

 ing about 250 tons of cargo.
Apply to HENRY MOORE.
North Kent-street, March 3. 3562

By order of the Improvement Committee of the City Council.

JOHN RAE,
Town Clerk.

$328

signed—
A 6½ Octave Rosewood Cabinet Pianoforte.
T. S. MORT,
Auctioneer and Broker.

on commission, or any other colonial produce; gentlemen favouring him with either of the above will find his attention a great advantage to their interests,

704

Lawson's Worm Powders
Every description of Perfumery.
BATHS,

On sale by JOHN MACNAMARA,
Queen-street.
March 8. 8:30

thirty barrels, at 20s. per barrel
thirty half ditto, at 10s. per half-barrel.
WM. NORTHWOOD,
No. 4, Market Street W.C.E.

whether by contracts or otherwise?" give the roads and bridges in repair. Mr. YEOMANS believes that "by a very moderate toll at each end of Mailland, on the road leading from Morpeth to the northward only, upwards of £1500 would be in the Muswellbrook district were sufficiently repaired, "the imposition of toll to the extent of raising a revenue suffi-

Scott, of the same district, gives a similar opinion, and adds, that "from the vast traffic which passes through the township of Muswellbrook, from the upper districts of Liverpool Plains, New filling up caissons, and making the bridges, would be so very great as to justify the imposition of tolls ;" and that if two toll-bars were established in that quarter, at the places he mentions, "the public about £500 a year." Mr. McDONALD says, "four or five additional toll-gates may be erected in this (the Pitt Town) district, at a rental of £100 each gate. Good roads will increase traffic, and an oppressive." Mr. CHARLES CAMPBELL is of opinion that "between Goulburn and Micaligo, the commencing point of the squatting district Menaroo, a distance of about ninety-five miles, six toll bars" might be placed;

The testimony, therefore, is almost as complete with regard to the justice, expediency and acceptableness of a great

Although the Arabian, arrived at Hobart Town, is reported to have left Dublin on

LAW INTELLIGENCE.
CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.
THURSDAY.
HARRIS vs. HARRIS. Mr. Justice TUNNEY.

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL having briefly stated the circumstances of the case, proceeded to tender evidence in support of the charge against the prisoner.

M'Allister allowed no one to go near the spot until he had himself taken careful observation of all the surrounding circumstances, and the body, which was lying face downwards, was not touched until the arrival of the surgeon whom Mr. M'Allister immediately saw the prisoner at the Campdetention lock-up, he having been in the mean time apprehended, and on this occasion Mr. McAllister cautioned the prisoner not to say anything which would injure himself; this was on a Saturday evening, and upon the following Wednesday memorandum was made of his statement, to which the prisoner affixed his mark; he likewise affirmed the correctness of this statement in open court at the time of his committal. In this confession he stated that on the previous

James Hogan went out in different directions but met in the bush near the residence of the deceased, where after watching some time they met her; she was twice thrown down first by Hogan, and secondly by the prisoner, when the latter seized a razor from Hogan.

deceased to marry his brother, while the prisoner was enraged against her on account of her having broken off an engagement to marry

The Jury, without leaving the box, found a verdict of not guilty, and the prisoner was discharged.

BATHURST CIRCUIT COURT,
THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25.
INFORM HIS HONOR SIR A. STEPHEN, Chief Justice.

HORSE-STEALING.
Robert Brown, on Tuesday found guilty of horse-stealing, was brought up for sentence, when His Honor stated, that he had enquired into the prisoner's character, which he did not

was determined to award such a sentence as might possibly deter others from committing the same offence; as, however, the present case was not an aggravated one, he should award the lenient sentence of three years in irons, on the public roads.

MURDER.

John Walsh, ticket-of-leave, was indicted for the murder of Bernard M'Quirk, at Cannon-—, a sheep station of Mr. Leck's about forty that on the day named, about dusk, they were in a public house kept by a person named Sawyer; the deceased had a pot of porter and a gill of spirits, he became intoxicated; some angry words passed between them, and the deceased got up and squared at the prisoner; the landlord very properly interfered, and said he would have no fighting on his premises, and eventually turned them both out; the deceased was described as a strongman, and forced the blade of a sheep shear to a stick about five or six feet long, stating at the time that he wanted to kill native dogs; shortly after the prisoner returned to his hut, the deceased was heard outside talking to the dogs; the prisoner got up and blew the lamp out; shortly after the deceased knocked at the door, and requested admittance, he was repeatedly told by the prisoner to go away, and that he was not place, and asked him to go and help drink it out; this the deceased refused, apparently determined to remain and renew his quarrel with the prisoner, whom he called a dog, and made use of much abusive and threatening language; the prisoner then came out of the inner room into the one where the deceased was, with the stick and shear blade on it in his hand, and told the deceased if he valued his life he had son said that he was not aware of any wound or injury being inflicted, as he did not hear the deceased complain of being hurt, that when he, Dawson, took his departure for his own hut, he left the deceased on the floor, but he thought merely from intoxication. The boy Lowe however swore positively, and repeated his story over twice very distinctly, and without prevarication, that he saw the prisoner go down.

escape, but was apprehended the next morning by Henry Wilkinson, and to whom he said he had killed the deceased, and was not sorry for it; and that if the same thing occurred he would do it again. The body was found outside the hut by a man named Cooper, the deceased was then alive, and requested to be taken to the fire—that he was perishing with cold; he was taken into the hut, and died.

Michael Doyle and John Kennedy, both free by servitude, were indicted for stealing a note of the Commercial Bank for £20.

From the evidence of the prosecutor, a wealthy grazier living in the neighbourhood of Wellington, who had arrived at Bathurst, and put up at Mrs. Black's inn, and had dined there with some friends, and indulged rather freely; that between nine and ten o'clock he had gone him £1; the prosecutor afterwards went into Arthur's Inn, accompanied by two females—one known by the cognomen of the Grasshopper, and another lady of easy virtue; shortly after two men followed, supposed to be, but not fully identified, as the prisoners; when the prosecutor left these men followed, and on the following morning the gentleman found he was ne-third of the quantity sent home in 1845, the probable export of this year, we have heard estimated at 10,000 tons, nearly three times the quantity exported in 1845; and for the whole of this, more particularly if a large portion of it be sent home early, a higher average price will no doubt be obtained than has yet been realised in any one year for Australian tallow. There are some amongst us who are disposed to lament in such arties would be better fed, and our graziers would be better paid for stock rearing. But many years will elapse before the demand for animal food in this country will press upon the supply; and in the meantime, the only question to determine is, to what purpose can stock be converted so as to return the largest remuneration to the breeder. Experience has determined that for the present the tallow trade affords the best market for our surplus.

ate; and they will be adding to their own incomes, and also enriching the colony without trenching in any injurious way on its future capabilities. The extent to which boiling down can be safely carried on may be left to the stockholders themselves. They are in the best position to judge whether, in addition to their stock-in-trade, or to their annual incomes, is likely under existing cir-adjunct to the boiling-down system. The process is so simple that it would not be difficult to make arrangements in the one establishment for preserving the prime portions of the beast and rendering the remainder into tallow. The subject is well worthy the immediate attention of the graziers, for it might be the means of increasing the value of their fat stock ten or even twenty per cent.—Maitland Mercury.

The appointment or successor to the retiring Resident Director. On the first point, the meeting unanimously resolved that the qualification should be reduced to twenty scrips (£5 each.) With regard to the second point, it was proposed, in place of the present mode, of allowing one vote for each scrip, that the following scale should be adopted:—

| | | | |
|---------|--------|-----------|---------|
| 1 scrip | 1 vote | 40 scrips | 5 votes |
| 5 | 2 | 60 | 7 |

shall reside permanently at the mine. There has been no work done since Christmas, the men being engaged in clearing up the old stores raised during the last four or five months; and we believe that upwards of 2000 tons now raised will be sent to the Port, so soon as the drays are able to convey it. Last week upwards of 280 tons left the mine for the Port, and the appearance of the new patches, which

SALE OF TOBACCO AT POLLARD'S BONDED STORES.—We beg to remind our readers that Mr. Must will hold a sale of negrohead tobacco, at Pollard's bonded store, Queen's place, this day, at ten o'clock. —Communist.

SALE OF SHEEP.—We are requested by Mr. Mort to call the particular attention of our readers to his sale of 1939 sheep, now running at Darling Downs, warranted sound, and never to have been diseased, to take place at his rooms, this day, at twelve o'clock. —Communist.

Mr. Newton has suggested to direct the attention

ENGLISH EXTRACTS.

A NUT FOR THE AGITATOR.

THE Nation has another batch of letters suppressed by the Repeal Association. The following is an extract from a letter of one of the seceders, a gentleman of considerable influence in his locality:—

"To John O'Connell, Esq., M.P.
"Alexandria, Wexford, September 26, 1844."

"Let me remind you of your tears when Smith O'Brien retired from the hall. His brave heart disclaimed the vulgar despotism of your satellites, stoek chairmen and stipendiaries, brawling or crawling as the occasion served. You implored sorrow from every true repealer, and deprecated one word of aggravation." — Repeal, 1840, p. 4, 5.

things. Accustomed to gross income, egotism and inflated vanity possess the man. He flatters free men's aid is treason to his authority: and he imitates his own frequent quotation of Napoleon being the State—thus making Ireland O'Connell, instead of O'Connell for the restored parliament of Ireland. He must be made to remember, that he is, after all, to use his own metaphor, only the twig upon the gratulated them on the August calendar, and the consequent decrease of crime.

151

HORSE-STEALING.

This ended the criminal side.

Court adjourned until the following morning at nine A. M.

CIVIL SIDE.

Before His Honor the CHIEF JUSTICE.

It appeared from the evidence that the plaintiff and defendants occupied adjoining farms, and that for a period of about two years the sheep from the defendants' stations had the frequent habit of feeding on various crops of the plaintiff's run, thereby causing considerable damage to the plaintiff's crops and numbers of his cattle to leave the run.

The Jury, after having retired for minutes, returned a verdict for the plaintiff on all the issues—damages £30.

Counsel for the plaintiff, the Solicitor-General; attorney, Mr. G. C. Turner. Counsel for the defendants, Mr. Holroyd; attorney, N. M'Intosh.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE

CERTIFICATES OF DISCHARGE.
James Stuart, John Somerville, John Donald, and Patrick Lahy, having applied for their certificates and being unopposed, their applications allowed.

The consideration of the application of Shalles, for a certificate, which had been previously before the Commissioner, was on, and again adjourned till Thursday next, in order to allow time for the Chief of

MULTUM IN PARVO.
(From late Australasian Papers.)
THE editor of a Launceston paper is as a third-class probationer, the reporter of-leave man, lately a bill-sticker theatre, and the country correspondent missed ticket-of-leave constable.—The oratorio of the Hobart Town Chorus

Scholarship took place on Monday, February, at Launceston; the scholar-nable for three years, was founded in memory of the late Archdeacon Hester. There were three candidates—Master Kentish, and Wood, of whom the successful by a majority of one.—William Van Diemen's Land bushranger, apprehended while in a state of action in a public house.—His Excellency erection and ventilation of buildings, supply of water, &c.—A lode of Galena has been discovered on a section on the bank of the Torrens, belonging to Messrs. Smith and Co., which on examination is stated to contain 100 ounces of silver to the ton.—The use of the land on agricultural lands in South Australia is extensively practised with success and profit by the owners.—Great dread is entertained in the colonies of the outbreak of a new epidemic.

China Goods, Satin Damasks, C
China Cordials, Manila Hats, Souche
China Seeds.
MA. STUBBS.—At the Cattle Mark o'clock, Horns, &c.: at May's Y
posite Cooper's Distillery, at 2 o'clock 200 Wethers.
MA. S. LYONS.—At his Mart, at 1
Sugar, Vinegar, Chocolate: at t
M...

100

151

